Honor Society Sponsored First Homecoming Contest

By DEMETRIA DA-ATON

When did the first crowning of Hartnell college homecoming queen take place? Who was the first homecoming queen to reign over the alumni activities? These often are the questions of the students, now that the homecoming activities are here.

It all started in 1947 when the popular event at the junior college was revived, with Alpha Gamma Sigma sponsoring the first Homecoming day. Events consisted of an assembly at which sophomore Nadine Conger was crowned homecoming queen to reign during the day, a downtown parade of junior college floats, an alumni dinner, a football game with Menlo college and a big homecoming dance. Attendants of the queen were: Barbara Timmins, Margaret Melrose, Honey Harris and Geneva Bottian.

In 1948, Queen Carolyn Harris, aided by her court of four campus beauties, Karen Hansen, Betty Warren, Dorothy Curtis and Janice Lund, reigned over the homecoming activities.

Parade Preceded Game

The parade, one of the largest ever, preceded the gridiron clash between San Francisco's City College Rams and the Panthers. Hartnell A&M received the Goodfriend perpetual trophy for the best float, while Ed Dysle garnered the Sproles alumni trophy for most valuable player. Dancing culminated the events of the day.

Queen Carol Storment was crowned homecoming queen in 1949. She ruled over the parade, game, barbecue and dance. Awards were presented to Hartnell A&M for its parade float, and to Bill Whited as the outstanding player of the Hartnell-S.F.C.C. football game, which S.F.C.C. won, 15-12.

In 1950, Queen Ida Garcia, aided by her court, reigned over the festivities. A parade and barbecue preceded the gridiron clash between the Panthers and Menlo's Oaks. "Ye olde Gaboon" returned to Hartnell as a result of a 27-7 win by the Panthers.

Attendants were: Deon Dyer, Phyllis Butters, Lucy Papac and Judy Beck.

Mary Gray Reigned

In 1951, Alpha Gamma Sigma sponsored the homecoming activities. Queen Mary Gray reigned supreme over the day's events. The queen's first official duty was the opening of the "new" student lounge. Chicken dinner at Berdell's and Hartnell-San Jose State Frosh football game highlighted the homecoming activities. Queen's

Paintings Viewed In Science Wing

Exhibition of 17 water colors by Mrs. Dale Schmidt will be on display at the college until Wednesday. Scenes of Monterey Peninsula, San Benancio canyon and Corral de Tierra may be seen in the science wing.

Mrs. Schmidt is a student of Mr. Amyx in the painting class of the extended day program. She is a graduate of Stanford university, where she majored in art.

Graduate Dinner Will Be Feature Of Homecoming

Dinner at the Castlewood inn will be a highlight of homecoming tomorrow. The inn, formerly known as Redwood Gardens, is located south of Salinas on the Monterey highway. All alumni attending the dinner will receive free admission to the Hartnell-Menlo game Saturday night.

The cocktail hour will be at 4 p.m. There will be no on-campus tea as in previous years, but there will be an after-game dance in the men's gymnasium.

Herb Miller's band will play at the dance. Miller, who is the brother of the late Glen Miller and resides in Pacific Grove, will play some of his brother's arrangements.

An alumni award will be presented by the homecoming queen to the most outstanding Hartnell player. Judges selecting the outstanding player will be former Hartnell greats, Clive Bullian, Tony Teresa, Bill Whited, Jim Echeveria and Al Garnero.

Freshmen Tamed In Field Events

The sophomores defeated the freshmen in six out of seven events Wednesday afternoon to walk off with the annual Men's club field day.

The freshman women won the basketball game, 10-7. The other contests, all of which were won by the sophomores, showed the following scores: football, 7-0; woman's volleyball, 2-1; woman's softball, 6-3; man's softball, 11-0; man's volleyball, 2-0. The sophomores won the tie-up on a forfeit when the freshmen did not field a team.

About 225 students attended the dinner. Mr. W. C. Criswell reported this was a smaller number than last year. He said the crowd watching the field day events was larger but still small. He counted a combined total of 76 spectators at the man's softball and woman's basketball games.

Alex Zermeno Proclaims Royalty For The Annual Homecoming Celebration

Sandy Epperson was proclaimed queen of the 1957 Hartnell college homecoming at the coronation this morning. Alex Zermeno, student body president and master of ceremonies, crowned the queen in the presence of the student body.

Queen Sandy and her court, composed of Janis Totten, Diane Collier, Lydia Lavarato, and Deanna Locatelli, were gowned in formals. A corsage was worn by each.

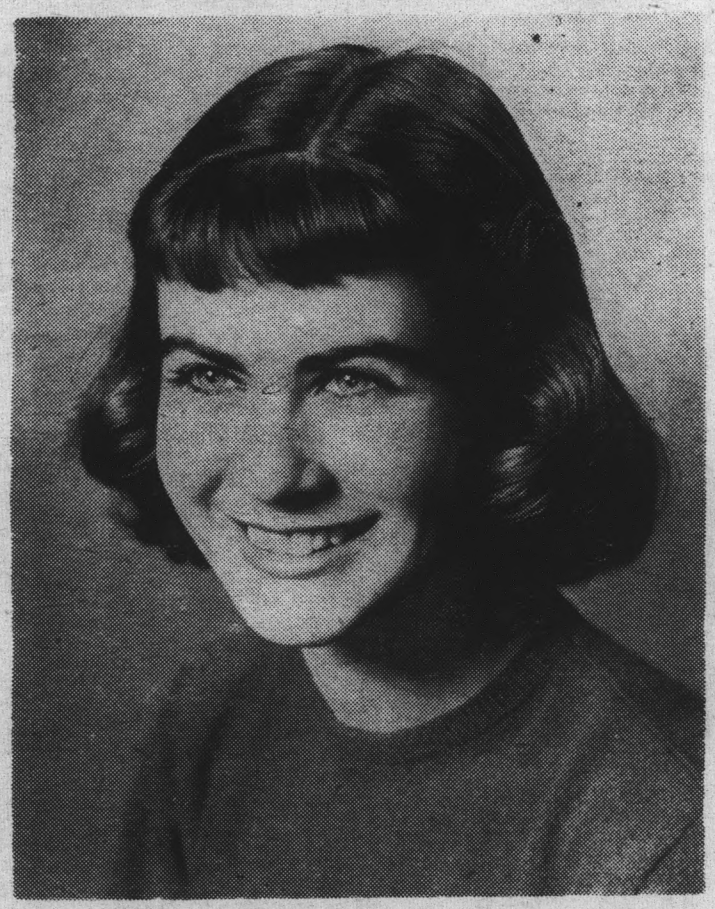

The program opened with the salute to the flag led by Zermeno. The queen and her court made the grand entrance with the "Processional," by Samuel Bousseau, played by the Hartnell college brass band. A trumpet fanfare was given as the queen ascended to her throne. Her male attendants were Zermeno and Claude Ponting. The page of the court, Christopher Bjarnason, was letter bearer and presented the letter containing the name of the queen to Zermeno. The name had been secret since this morning's election.

The proclamation of the queen was read by Zermeno. A trumpet fanfare heralded the crowning. Mary Middaugh was crown bearer, and Marcia Middaugh was scepter bearer. One dozen long-stemmed American Beauty roses were presented to the queen.

George Tindall, Alpha Gamma Sigma representative, presented her highness a trophy on which her name will be engraved with the names of former homecoming queens.

A selection by the band and the "Recessional," by Bousseau, closed the ceremonies.

Sales Training Class Being Offered By Salinas Merchants on Monday

"Salinas merchants are offering a Christmas sales training class for young men and women interested in working in Salinas stores during the forthcoming Christmas sales season," relates Mrs. Anne Harper of the Hartnell placement bureau.

Students interested in Christmas jobs are advised to enroll in this course which is given free of charge, and is open to anyone who wishes to learn the proper techniques for working in stores and shops during the Christmas rush. Those people completing the entire five-evening course will be presented a certificate which will make it easier for them to locate jobs during November and December.

Attendance at the first meeting of the class will register students in the class. Classes will last two hours, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The first class will meet Monday, followed by classes on Wednesday, Friday, Nov. 12 and Nov. 14.

Classes will meet in the choral room of Salinas Union high school and will be taught by Warren Shorthill. He will be assisted by personnel from Salinas stores.

College Plays Made Possible By Stage Crews

No production of the Hartnell college-community playhouse would be possible without the talents of local non-students who participate in each performance.

"The Merchant of Venice," which will be staged in the Little Theater Nov. 14, 15 and 16, is no exception, with eight community players taking part in some manner.

George Whitney, a guard at Soledad prison, is serving the dual role of stage manager and plays a small part as one of Bassanio's friends. Mrs. Stanley Wood also has two jobs, being wardrobe mistress and "Jessica." Her husband is billed as the "Prince of Morocco."

A new communtty actor, Richard Brown, plays the role of "The Duke of Venice," while Ruth Ellred plays "Nerissa," waiting maid of Portia. Others from outside the college are Clark Borges as "The Prince of Arragon," Joan Collier as narrator and Joyce Kenny who is in charge of the script and sound effects.

The stage craft class is working hard to get the set ready for final rehearsals and the three performances. Included in the group are Janice Baird, who is painting the Venetian backdrop for the Italian renaissance period, and Elizabeth Everton, Watsonville drama major, who would prefer to be one of the actresses, but, because of commuting problems, is helping to cover

EDITORIAL

WHO DROPPED THE CROWN?

We here at the Panther Sentinel consider it our duty to criticize when we feel criticism is necessary. We do not blame anyone for honest mistakes; however, when mistakes result from carelessness, lack of planning and organization and just plain stupidity, then we start swinging and let the blows fall where they may.

This homecoming queen election has been the most mishandled event of the college year. From the beginning of the year the peoples responsible for this event knew the date of the homecoming game. Did they start planning accordingly? They did not. They waited until Tuesday before they started making plans, and then nothing was decided.

As a result of this fiasco, handled by a bunch of seemingly incompetent persons, the Panther Sentinel's reporters, in trying to fine someone who might know something about election plans, were shunted from person to person, each of whom said, in effect, "I don't know nothing."

Tuesday was our press day. On this day, two days before the election, we could not get even a semblance of a story on the homecoming queen crowning and program — integral parts of an event which certainly may be considered one of the most important happenings of the fall semester.

The complete lack of responsibility shown by a certain campus organization and its officers cannot be dealt with at this point. We can only hope that in the future college events will be handled by persons who not only know how to schedule and organize in such a way that they will not be trying to make plans for an election two days before it occurs, but also by people who are willing to expend a little effort and have the ability to do a job, which is their responsibility.

CANDIDATES SHOW SPORTSMANSHIP

In contrast to election mismanagement, the queen candidates have shown themselves to be worthy of any elected office. When one of the women became ill last week, the rest of the candidates saw to it that she got equal publicity space with them. In our book the queen candidates have got what it takes.

Students Warned About Parking

Hartnell students owning private cars are advised to familiarize themselves with the college's parking regulations. Students are particularly asked to avoid parking in the faculty row.

Those who persist in parking in unauthorized areas are subject to the following penalties:

1. Members of the student commission give tickets to all cars improperly parked. Violators are usually referred to Dr. Lionel Olsen.

2. Two or more violations involve monetary fines which are paid in the main office.

Newman Club Holds Student Talent Show

A jam-packed Little theater saw an all-student talent presentation Tuesday noon.

Sponsored by the Newman club, it was shown free to introduce the club's candidate for homecoming queen, Lydia Lavarato, according to Ruben Lopez, the club president.

A conglomeration of musical and jocular talents were well received and applauded by the student audience. The show was presented in 12 acts, and it lasted 40 minutes.

Surprising features of the show were the Capries quartet and Al Machado's combo.

Other performances included two songs by Carol Ann Stewart with piano accompaniment by Donna Ponting. Dick Rhorke, Gary Harris and Wayne Handley provided laughs and humor.

Don Whitwam Chosen "Bandsman of Week"

Don Whitwam of Morgan Hill was recently picked "bandsman of the week" by the band officers. He is a tenor saxaphonist as well as an alto and B-flat clarinetist.

Whitwam has been playing those instruments for six years. He last played at the Live Oak high school.

Many Flying Activities Undertaken by "Aviators"

By NANCY SUURBALLE

The Flying club was established in 1949 and has been an active club at Hartnell ever since. At present the club has 19 members in good standing.

Club members can learn to fly, and can also maintain pilot's licenses if they already know how to fly. In order to maintain a license, a person must have a certain amount of flying hours a year. The members who have a pilot's license may fly at any time and may take another person along.

The club has acquired four planes during the years. The members usually purchase an old plane and have it reconditioned at Hartnell A and M.

The members of the club participate in air meets at various airports with other schools such as, Santa Rosa junior college, San Jose state, San Mateo junior college University of California and Cal Poly.

The advisors of the club are Mr. G. Darwin Peavy, Mr. Jay Hickenlooper, and Mr. William R. Bullis.

Two members of the stage crew have important roles in the show. Robert Smith, Watsonville high school graduate, plays "Antonio," the person whose flesh is at stake, and Lloyd Abel, who has one of the lead roles as "Bassanio." Abel and Smith are drama majors.

Completing the cast with acting roles are four other students, George Brown as "Shylock," the famed money-lender who wants his pound of flesh straight from the heart of Antonio; Marion Lewis, who plays "Portia"; Bill Loveless, Hartnell basketball player in the role of "Gratiano," and Joan Blacklock, a woman playing a male role as "Salanio."

Homecoming sponsored by Alpha Gamma Sigma and coordinated by Wallace Lowry in 1952 was a great success. Sally Lipsett was crowned queen at the afternoon ceremonies and her attendants were Marlene Lampe, Lorraine Borba, Margie Russo and Pat Toney.

In 1953, Queen Arlene Mill reigned. She was aided by a court of four beauties, Rosita Borja, Jackie Campidonica, Mary Griffin, and Karol Klauer.

1954 Queen Still Here

Queen Anna Dietz with attendants Arlene Olsen, Amy Bracell, Darlene Honks and Carol Stinger reigned over the homecoming activities in 1954. Miss Dietz is now Mr. Stuart Dufour's secretary.

In 1955, Student Body President Rene Eris presented Queen Judy Young with a scepter at the coronation ceremonies. Her attendants included: Mary Ingols, Martha Lou Cowles, Joan Benoit and Sally Beazell.

In 1956, Queen Doris Kitamura reigned over the homecoming festivities. Aided by attendants Betty Eckerson, Mary Ellen Stewart, Rosemarie Clampitt and Carol Stewart, the event was successful.

Engineering Classes See Atomic Reactor At San Jose Plant

Students from the engineering classes visited the Vallicitos Atomic laboratory while it was firing its hot water reactor in preparation for generating the first electricity generated by a privately owned atomic power plant. The students were shown through the plant and heard an explanation of the processes involved in the power generation.

While in San Jose, the students also visited the Accent plant and the Food Machinery corporation. The students visited the ordance division of the latter plant, where they saw an amphibious transport tank manufactured and assembled.

FIRE, PARADE SET

The theme "Let's Get on the Bandwagon" will highlight a bonfire and noise parade prior to the homecoming game Saturday night. The fire and an hour of yells will take place on the track behind the college at 6:30 p.m.

The parade begins at 7:30 p.m. alongside the college on West Alisal street. It will move down Alisal to Main street, then south to Salinas Union high school stadium. Sharon Shoemaker, commissioner of rallies and assemblies, was trying to arrange for music as the Panther Sentinel went to press.

Chemistry Department Gets Geiger Counter

A new geiger counter has been acquired by the Hartnell chemistry department. In an experiment with a strong coal deposit, numerous rapid clicks were heard as the substance was brought near the counter. The geiger counter will be used for demonstration purposes in the various science courses, according to Mr. Raymond Puck.

There is a total of more than 2,000 rock and mineral samples in the geology department collection, Mr. Puck said. They are housed atop one another in a small room. Many flourescent rocks can be detected by an ultra-violet lamp, valued at $50. A fossil collection is also featured.

New Telescope Used In Astronomy Classes

Mr. Raymond Puck, a member of the physical science department, and his classes are using a new telescope to study the sky. The astronomy classes are examining sun spot activity, going through its period, and the multiple star systems.

The new telescope is a unitron, three-inch refractor, and has a magnification of 300 power, Mr. Puck indicated.

Next week, the classes will examine the moon, its various craters, seas, mountains and faults.

Jr. Rose Bowl Trophy Gets Cleaned, Shined

The student commission decided Monday to have the Rose bowl trophy, which Hartnell won against Bacone in the Junior Rose bowl game, taken to a jeweler's to be cleaned and polished. Ivan Hartnell was appointed by Alex Zermeno to be in charge of the project.

500 Students Added To Biology Department

By NANCY SUURBALLE

The biology department of Hartnell has had an increase of about 500 students with the addition of the health education classes to the department programs.

The classes were previously a part of the physical educa-tion. department, but this year it was changed to the biology department.

The biological sciences are those dealing with living things, and are divided into two major sections. zoology and botany. Zoology is the study of animals and botany is the study of plants.

Three Are Teaching

The persons who teach these courses are Mr. Wilbert J. Robinson, Dr. Howard Feder and Mr. James Wilson.

Mr. Robinson, senior member of the department, teaches nature study, a general study of plants and animals, botany, and entomology, a specialized study of insects. He received his bachelor of arts degree from San Jose and his master's degree and general secondary teaching credential from Stanford. He also teaches a natural science class with Mr. Puck.

Dr. Feder teaches zoology, human anatomy, general biology. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from UCLA and his doctorate from Stanford.

Studying for Doctorate

Mr. Wilson teaches the health education classes and next semester will teach physiology and bacteriology. He received his bachelors degree from the University of Illinois and his masetrs degree from Iowa State college, and is working on his doctorate in microbiology at Stanford.

The biological science courses at Hartnell are designed for all groups, the nonscience major who wants to complete his science requirements with a minimum of laboratory work, and those who desire more specialized work.

Hartnell has the only entomology course in California that is transferrable to the state university.

Hartnell Meets Menlo in Homecoming Game

Panthers Seek First Win Tomorrow; Injuries Sideline Lopez and Garten

The Hartnell college Panthers will host the Menlo Oaks tomorrow night at the Salinas union high school stadium in the annual homecoming game.

The Oaks, a team with a record only slightly better than that of the Panthers, will feature a heavy passing attack with ace quarterback Dave Ryan doing the tossing. Coach "Skip" Schwellenbach, who has seen the Oaks play, says that they have a fair defense, and a hard-charging runner in Fullback Eric McIntosh. End Andre Delagnes will be looking toward the air lanes for passes from Ryan.

Center Ruben Lopez will be lost to the Panthers for the remainder of the season. Lopez broke his ankle in the Vallejo contest. Ron Garten, recovering from a knee operation, will be missing from the end position. Jim Zachary, another end, has been placed on the doubtful list.

The probable starting lineup for the Panthers will include: Joe Bass and Julian Aguilar, ends; Jim Mastin and Al Machado, tackles; Dick Rohrke and Ken Blanton, guards; Bill Elliott, center; Jim Stireman, fullback; Bob Cabanyog and Merwin Kehl, halfbacks, and Wayne Handley at quarterback. Handley will be starting at the position for the first time this season. His creditable performance in the Vallejo game gives him the nod.

Menlo has lost to Vallejo, 7-6, and to San Jose, 20-7.

Hartnell Cagers Continue Drills For First Games

The Hartnell Panther basketball team is pounding the hardwoods late these days, according to Coach G. Ed Adams. The team is working on fundamentals, and running various drills for conditioning purposes.

Coach Adams said the team has been running various plays and routines which it expects to use and some it expects the opposition to use.

Don Bush, Phil Netto and Roger King are sidelined with ankle injuries which Coach Adams says are hurting the quintet. Several practice games are scheduled with teams from Fort Ord and various high schools.

JAGUARS, FALCONS TIED FOR 1st PLACE

Undefeated San Jose, Hartnell's opponent on Nov. 9, and Vallejo are tied for first place in the Coast conference football race. San Jose trimmed Menlo, 20-7, last week end for its fifth consecutive win.

Tied for second place are East Contra Costa and the Monterey Peninsula Lobos. MPC rallied to edge ECC, 12-7, Saturday night. MPC meets Vallejo, and ECC tackles San Jose this week.

Basement honors will be decided Saturday night when Hartnell faces Menlo. Each team has lost two league games.

Harriers Lose First Home Race To Vallejo, ECC

Vallejo won a quadrangular cross-country meet Saturday at Hartnell, scoring 25 points to East Contra Costa's 34. Hartnell finished third with 47 points and Monterey last, none of its runners finishing the three-mile grind. The team with the lowest score wins.

Vallejo's Jim Howell was timed in 14:29 while Teammate Jett trailed behind in 14:43. Hartnell's top finisher was Don Bonino, who finished ninth, against 17 runners, excluding the M.P.C. distance runners. Bonino's time was 15:54, Coach Ed Adams declared.

Jack Jurian was 11th, clocked in 16:28; Lynn Montgomery was 12th in 16:51 and Bob Stolich, 15th, timed in 17:03.

A triangular affair is slated with Vallejo and Monterey tomorrow at the latter course.

Panthers Defeated By Vallejo Falcons In Home Opener

Vallejo's Charley Fuller and company outplayed the Hartnell Panthers Saturday night for a 24-13 win in Hartnell's first home game of the season.

The Panthers again proved to be a strong second half team as they scored 13 points and held the opposition to 12 after the intermission. The first Panther score came on a sustained drive with Jim Stireman plunging over from the four-yard-line. Quarterback Wayne Handley engineered the drive. Hartnell scored its last touchdown with six minutes remaining in the game on a pass from Handley to Halfback Gene White, Bob Cabanyog kicked the extra point.

Fuller was held scoreless by a stubborn Hartnell line, but the Panther backs were caught napping on three passes which went for scores. The final Vallejo touchdown came after a personal foul against End Joe Bass gave the Falcons the ball on the one-yard line.
